Atlantic Testing Laboratories (ATL) has extensive experience working with producers to maintain the proper Quality Control and to evaluate whether your crushed stone, sand, and gravel operations are producing the highest quality aggregate.

We have been assisting aggregate producers for decades, performing a broad range of aggregate test methods.

Prior to submitting your aggregate for agency approval, let us evaluate the quality of your product. Should any inconsistencies or irregularities occur, we can help identify the source of the problem and offer some suggestions as to how to correct them.
